(3) It shall be deemed to have come into force on the 28th day of September, 1993.

Identify the following:

- i. Official citation
- ii. Long Title
- iii. Date of commencement

d) Throughout history, people have generally coordinated with their neighbors regarding the time, seen in merchants displaying their goods at daybreak and the local synchronization of time has been essential for communal activities, economic transactions, and cultural events. The value of this tradition is today more apparent than ever. Were it not for public acceptance of a single yardstick of time, social life would be unbearably chaotic: the massive daily transfers of goods, services, and information would experience disruptions, the very fabric of modern society would begin to unravel. A unified time system is critical for the smooth functioning of various aspects of our interconnected global society, including business, travel, finance, science, technology, communication, emergency response, and cultural exchange. It promotes efficiency, reduces confusion, and fosters collaboration on a worldwide scale.

Answer the following questions based on the extract given above:

- i. What is the main idea / theme of the passage?
- ii. What is meant by single yardstick of time?
